

OpenAI's
new image
model is released.

And it's #1 across the board.

GPT-Image-2 just took the #1 spot across all Image Arena leaderboards — a record-breaking +242 point lead in Text-to-Image.

Exciting news - GPT-Image-2 by @OpenAI has claimed the #1 spot across all Image Arena leaderboards!

A clean sweep with a record-breaking +242 point lead in Text-to-Image, the largest gap we've seen to date.

- #1 Text-to-Image (1512), +242 over #2 (Nano-banana-2 with web-search aka gemini-3.1-flash-image)
- #1 Single-Image Edit (1513), +125 over #2 (Nano-banana-pro aka gemini-3-pro-image)
- #1 Multi-Image Edit (1464), +90 over #2 (Nano-banana-2)

No model has dominated Image Arena with margins this wide.

It even beat Nano Banana 2.

On paper, at least. So I wanted to see it for myself.

Huge congratulations to @OpenAI on this major breakthrough in image generation! More performance breakdowns by category in the thread below.

OpenAI Ranks #1: GPT-Image-2

So I ran a spin-off. 6 prompts. Both models. Same brief. And I had Claude Opus 4.7 sit in as the judge — scoring realism, prompt adherence, detail, and text rendering for every pair.

Final Tally

- GPT Image 2 → 3 wins (infographic, packaging, banking UI)
- Nano Banana 2 → 2 wins (gym selfie, character consistency)
- 1 tie (vintage poster)

GPT owns clean UI + structured layouts.

Nano owns authentic candids + identity preservation.

Pick the model for the job — not the brand. Both ship; the prompt decides which one wins.
